Burnished finishes create a warm, traditional look by bringing out the fine-furniture details of the cabinetry. An unfinished door is sanded on the corners and raised areas, and then a dark burnishing stain is carefully applied. Next, random compression marks are made on each door and then a finish stain is applied and hand-rubbed into the wood. The end result is a custom, one-of-a-kind look.

Distressed finishes, available in Husk and Saddle, replicate the look of reclaimed wood that has been restored and repurposed. Using multiple techniques, our skilled artisans carefully hand-distress every door so each one is unique. Next, a dark burnishing stain is carefully brushed onto corners and select raised areas. Finally, after a stain is applied and hand-rubbed into the wood, a durable matte Suede topcoat is used to complete the distressed look.

KraftMaid Cabinetry's 14-step finishing process is applied to all wood doors and drawer fronts.
